Comments:

It has changed because the teacher doesn't put pink pen and green marker all over work. Marking it made it look messy. Instead she looks at our work and puts our next steps on the board. It's more clear when it's on the board. I think it's positive because it doesn't make our work look messy when we've done our best and tried to make it neat. In Year 5 I didn't like school and didn't want to come but now I love school and want to be there all the time.

It's helped me to make progress by letting me feel like I am in charge of my book.

You do more blue pen (work) and (more) thinking.

The teachers don't mark our work this year and it helps us to realise our mistakes and then correct them. We can go over our work for spelling and punctuation errors.

It's clearer than before.

The changes are positive because I like a challenge.

It has changed because the teacher gave us the responsibility of marking our work. I think it's good because if you get something wrong you can learn from your mistake.

It's helped me to make progress because I am more independent.

I like being independent.

It makes me more independent.

I think it's positive because there is not green pen or pink pen all over our work. It has helped because now we can see what we have to do.

I like that the teachers don't highlight our books.

You have to be independent to be responsible to mark it yourself. I like the way we work - I think it's perfect.

We don't just write the correct answer we explain how we went wrong. Also we go through it a lot which really helps!

The feedback this year helped me learn because I've learned from my mistakes.

It's helped me because I didn't like all the pink and green in my book. It's easier to see what to do.

It's positive because we mark our own work and we are now more independent.

I can develop more on my own. I can do it on my own without the teacher.

It helps loads because we can talk about the blue pen (work).

I think I'm working harder.

Positive because I prefer being told what to do rather than just doing it.

I think school is much better now it has been improved.

(Changes to feedback are) positive because last year I didn't like it.

Miss Meloy is helping me by underlining 3 words a day and I look one word up to help my spellings. This is positive because I can remember my spellings.

It's changed so now when you (self) mark you actually know why you're marking.
